Grant writing is a key requirement for research scientists. GPIP offers the opportunity to PhD students and early-stage researchers to explore how to write a proposal that stands out among the others. Activities and lectures will cover all the steps necessary to convey a successful grant proposal, from conceptualization to writing. With the scientific direction of prof. Guido Cavaletti, organized by the Bicocca Starting Grants winners. It proves that interdisciplinarity works!

Monday, 18th July 2022 – afternoon
Welcome
Prof. Giovanna Iannantuoni, Rector, University of Milano-Bicocca
Keynote speakers:
Prof. Guido Cavaletti, Vice-Rector for Research, University of Milano-Bicocca
Prof. Salvatore Torrisi, Vice-Rector for Research Valorization and Technology Transfer, University of Milano-Bicocca
Prof. Gianfranco Pacchioni, Accademia Nazionale dei Lincei, University of Milano-Bicocca.
Prof. Giuseppe Citerio, University of Milano-Bicocca.

Tuesday, 19th July 2022 – all day
One day about grantsmanship, from background to practice.
With prof. Chiara Gabbi, Humanitas Medical Care, Milan/Karolinska Institute, Stockholm (SE).

Wednesday, 20th & Thursday, 21st July 2022 – all day
EU project landscape
Special focus on ERC and MSCA
Digging into proposal template and project structure
Hands on exercises.
With Chiara Casella, Fiorenza de Micheli & Balthasar Kenda from University of Milano-Bicocca grant office.
Successful stories: Maria Cristina Mangano & Andrea Orlandi.

Friday, 22nd July 2022 – morning + early afternoon
Closing Lectures:
Prof. Hellas Cena, Pro-Rector for Third Mission, University of Pavia
Prof. Giuseppe Ristagno, University of Milano
Prof. Massimo Grassi, University of Padua.
Bicocca Starting Grant winners – Examples of projects funded by the Bicocca Starting Grant 2020: The value of interdisciplinarity